

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Andrew Wiley earned his Bachelor of Arts from Indiana University, his Master of Arts from Indiana State University, and is presently a PhD Candidate at the University of Calgary working on his dissertation “‘A Steady Opposition to Every Evolution of Radicalism’: Conservatism, Conservatives, and the Civil War Era.” In addition to his dissertation, Wiley has one article under revision which will be published in the ensuing year; and another article under review. Wiley has also worked as an editorial assistant for the Frederick Douglass Papers at the Institute for American Thought, and is presently an editorial assistant for the academic journal Civil War History.