

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

---

Kenneth J. Winkle is Sorensen Professor of American History at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where he teaches 19th century U.S. history, the Civil War Era, family history, and historical methods and has received the University of Nebraska's Sorensen Award for Distinguished Teaching in the Humanities. His books have won the Society for Military History's Distinguished Book Award, the Abraham Lincoln Institute Book Award, and the Allan Sharlin Award of the Social Science History Association. The Young Eagle: The Rise of Abraham Lincoln was a Finalist for the Lincoln Prize. His most recent book is Lincoln's Citadel: The Civil War in Washington, DC. He is Co-Director of the digital site Civil War Washington (<http://civilwardc.org/>).