

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

---

Frank J. Cirillo is a doctoral candidate in history and holder of the John L. Nau III Jefferson Fellowship at the University of Virginia. His dissertation “‘The Day of Sainthood Has Passed’: American Abolitionists and the Golden Moment of the Civil War, 1861-1865” examines the divisions within antislavery reform over the Union war effort. He received his Master’s Degree in History from the University of Virginia in 2013 for the thesis “The Jefferson Image in the Abolitionist Mind, 1827-1860,” which explored abolitionists’ invocations of Thomas Jefferson. He received his Bachelor of Arts in History from Yale University in 2011.