

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

James L. Walker, Jr. is a Marine Corps veteran of Viet Nam, who has studied the campaigns of the American Civil War since childhood. He has studied and hiked all the battlefields of significance in that war, and given lectures on Fort Fisher and Wilmington to various school and historical groups, for over forty years. He has been monument chairman for sixteen historical monuments since the 1970s, thirteen of those being Confederate memorials or Civil War battlefield monuments. Rebel Gibraltar: Fort Fisher and Wilmington, C.S.A. is his first published study on the war.