

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Peter A. Sicher is a Ph.D. candidate and instructor at Temple University. His dissertation will examine the Lincoln administration's use of political patronage to build antislavery political coalitions in Union controlled portions of the South. Before he began his work at Temple, Peter earned a bachelor's and a master's degree in history from John Hopkins University and another master's degree in history from the University of Virginia. He also worked as a historian for the American Battlefield Trust.
