

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Richard H. Holloway (Louisiana State University) is a Park Ranger 2 with the Louisiana Office of State Parks. He was formerly the university records manager at The George Washington University in Washington, DC and served as an adjunct professor at Louisiana State University in both the Alexandria and Baton Rouge campuses. He gave tours of sites relevant to the American Civil War while living in Liverpool, England. His current research involves a comparison of the opposing commanders at the Battle of Fort Henry. He contributed biographies of Richard Taylor, Hamilton Prioleau Bee and William Robertson Boggs for Confederate Generals in the Trans-Mississippi, Volume 3 and an essay on the Siege of Jackson, Mississippi for Vicksburg Besieged. Holloway also regularly contributes to America's Civil War, Civil War Times, Military History Quarterly, Louisiana Kitchen and Culture, Le Raconteur among other publications.