

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

---

Phillip W. Magness (George Mason University) is a historian who focuses upon the political economy of slavery in the Civil War era, and more broadly the economic history of the United States. He is the co-author of Colonization After Emancipation: Lincoln and the movement for Black Resettlement along with Sebastian N. Page, as well as numerous articles on the colonization movement. His work on the Civil War era has appeared in the Journal of the Early Republic, the Journal of the Abraham Lincoln Association, and Slavery & Abolition, Journal of Supreme Court History, and popular outlets including Newsweek and the New York Times' Disunion series. He currently teaches in the Schar School of Public Policy at George Mason University.