

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Dr. James K. Bryant, II is a former History Professor and former National Park Service historian. He is the author of The Chancellorsville Campaign: The Nation's High Water Mark (2009); The Battle of Fredericksburg: We Cannot Escape History (2010); and The 36th Infantry United States Colored Troops: A History and Roster (2012). He is currently writing a book manuscript on the Virginia Campaigns in the Fall of 1863 (that includes the Mine Run Campaign) and also writing a regimental history on the 23rd Infantry, United States Colored Troops.